

MANY ATTEND YOUNG FOLKS CONFERENCE

SATURDAY SESSIONS OF COUNTY COUNCIL OF RELIGION AT HIGH SCHOOL.

ELECT NEW OFFICERS

banquet Scheduled This Evening At Methodist Church. Many Good Talks Delivered.

The seventh conference of the county Young People's Council of Religious Education opened in Greencastle Friday evening with the first session being held at the Baptist church, with Miss Jane Farmer, teacher of Bible in the High School, presiding.

Registration began at 5 o'clock and ended until 7 o'clock. There was a good number of young people from Putnam county present, and showed genuine interest and enthusiasm in the work which is being done. Devotion was given at Friday evening's session by Rev. Davies, pastor of the Baptist church. The welcome address was given by Miss Kathryn Kinison. Harold Storm was in charge of the worship and Dr. Bartlett gave the subject, "Adventures in Christian Living."

The Saturday morning session was held in the High School building, with about 100 representatives of Sunday schools from over the county present; Lois Zeiner presiding.

Two addresses were given during the course of the morning by Mrs. Newman, with the subject, "Measuring Up." John Berkits also talked to the assembly on "A Young Man Looks at the World." Both addresses were of interest, and filled with enthusiasm.

Prof. Hildebrand of DePauw University spoke at the afternoon session, on "Personal Commitment." A banquet will be staged Saturday evening in the Methodist Church from 7 to 7 o'clock. Election of officers will also be held at the evening session, with the installation of same being in charge of Prof. R. A. Ogg.

The conference will be closed with the Sunday morning session, which will be held in the Christian Church.

Dr. Oxnam To Be Vesper Service Speaker Sunday

UNIVERSITY CHORUS WILL ALSO GIVE NUMBERS AT ME-HARRY HALL.

Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam will deliver the second of a series of addresses at the vesper services in McHarry Hall Sunday afternoon from 3:45 to 4:45 o'clock. Dr. Oxnam has planned to give a number of addresses, one to be delivered each month.

The University Chorus will also feature the program with two numbers. The address will be public, and the people are most cordially invited to hear Dr. Oxnam.

Damage At Eitel Home Nearly $1000

FIRE FRIDAY AFTERNOON IS CHECKED; SMOKE, WATER CAUSE LOSS.

Damage from fire, water and smoke at the home of Jacob Eitel, Melrose avenue, was estimated at approximately $1,000. Fire broke out late Friday afternoon from an overheated laundry stove.

The blaze spread from the basement to the first and second floors and was checked before it made much headway.

The kitchen floor was undermined by fire and the kitchen furniture was almost a total loss. Water and smoke damaged furniture and rugs in the rest of the house.

FINE AND SECOND ARREST IS FATE OF TRUCK DRIVER

To be fined in the Mayor's court and to be arrested by a state policeman on a charge of operating a car with a 1928 license was the lot of Charles Percy, Indianapolis, driver of a truck for a baking firm in that city.

Pending action on the latter charge he left his truck in a local garage and returned to Indianapolis by traction. In the Mayor's court he was fined one dollar and costs for running over a fire hose.

FLUE IGNITES RAFTERS

An overheated flue ignited the rafters above the furnace at the Delta U fraternity house, Seminary and Arlington streets, early this morning. The blaze was discovered and extinguished before and damage was done. Firemen were called.

ONLY A FEW

State police working in and near here Friday and Saturday reported finding only a few motorists who were running their cars on 1928 license plates.

In some cases the persons operating on old plates had purchased the new models, but had not had time to put them on the cars.

GROUND HOG SEES SHADOW

GROUND HOG TRADITION ALL "TOMMYROT" ACCORDING TO SCIENTISTS.

It was easy for the groundhog today and tough for those who don't like cold weather.

According to the official weather forecast, from Washington the furry little animal was able to see his shadow in practically every section of the United States and therefore will crawl back in his hole for six weeks snooze because he believes in the old tradition that a sunny February 2 forecasts six more weeks of winter.

Below the Mason-Dixon line, where winter doesn't mean much, he may not be able to see his shadow.

Regardless of whether the little groundhog stays in or out of his hole he will find his ability as a weather forecaster under heavy fire by scientists and the U. S. Weather Bureau.

As far as the weather bureau is concerned, the groundhog tradition is all "Tommyrot."

The only way weather can be forecast is by advance information on clouds, air currents and wind directions, the bureau says. And where's a ground hog to get that?

Anyway the tradition is an old one originating centuries ago in Germany. February 2 also is candlemas day, being the 40th day after the birth of Christ, on which, according to Levitical rules, the purification of the mother and the presentation of the son to the church should occur.

FIRE DOES DAMAGE

Fire starting from an over-heated flue at the home of Mary Lovett, 204 South Vine street Saturday noon, did considerable damage.

The blaze burned through the weather-boarding from the ground to the ground to the roof, and spread around the flue, which it followed upward. The firemen cut through the metal roof around the flue and much damage resulted from smoke and water.

TAXATION CHIEF PROBLEM

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 2 (UP)—One-third of the season past, journals of Indiana's seventy-sixth General assembly show that virtually all contemplated important measures have been introduced.

But as attention swings from introductions to postpone solutions for a number of important Legislative problems until 1931 becomes evident.

Taxation probably is chief of these. Although proposals have been made for an increased gasoline tax, a cigarette tax and heavier license fees for trucks none have been given the weight of administration support and lag in the lower house.

Operetta Cast Well Selected

"HULDA OF HOLLAND" TO BE PRESENTED AT GRANADA THEATER.

The cast for "Hulda of Holland" which will be presented by Mu Phi Epsilon and Phi Mu Alpha, at the Granada theatre, next Thursday and Friday nights, has been completed. Miss Edna Bowles is directing the production, and Miss Ruth Scott is planning the costumes.

The cast for the operetta follows: Medford Maxwell, as Peter Castis; Emerson Van Cleave, as Jacob Hoogenbeets; Dorothy Deamer, as Hulda, Peter's daughter; Erma Duffield, as Kathrina, Jacob's daughter; Don Wilson, as Jerry Hyden, an American boy; Donald Jenkins, as Jimmy Stone, his pal; Dwight Treize, as Jan Steen, an American artist; Tilman Hadley, as Adrian Steen, Jan's father; and Howard Thompson, as Cornelius Hyden, Jerry's father. There will be also a chorus of Dutch boys and girls.

ORDER PROBE IN DEATH OF RICH WIDOW

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEMISE OF MRS. SELMA BURNHAM OF CHICAGO.

CIVIL ENGINEER HELD

Hospital Physicians Refused To Sign Death Certificate. Narcotics Revealed In Post Mortem.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. (UP)—Investigation of the mysterious death of Mrs. Selma Burnham, 48, wealthy manufacturer's widow, was ordered by police today.

Mrs. Burnham, said to have inherited a $500,000 interest in the Burnham Gum Machine Company, died at Garfield Park Hospital yesterday. She was brought to the hospital in an unconscious condition a week ago.

A preliminary physicians' report stated that a post mortem examination indicated the woman had taken narcotics. Hospital physicians refused to sign a death certificate.

Police, acting upon orders of Coroner Herman Bundeson, detained Edward T. Riley, civil engineer, who police said recently obtained a half-interest in Mrs. Burnham's holdings in the gum company.

Riley told police he became acquainted with Mrs. Burnham last July and that the widow persuaded him to invest $5,000 in the gum company. He said he later obtained a 55 per cent ownership in the business because of Mrs. Burnham's gratitude for his assumption of responsibility of management.

Police learned Mrs. Burnham and another woman had been found unconscious on the street and had been removed to the Burnham home. Several hours later her condition became serious and she was taken to Garfield Park Hospital.

Mary Doran, Mrs. Burnham's maid, sustained reports that Riley had barred visitors from the Burnham home after Mrs. Burnham became ill.

Riley was taken into custody yesterday upon complaint of Mrs. Burnham's step-daughter, Mrs. Josephine Cowan. Later Mrs. Cowan and her sister, Miss Isabel Ballard of Detroit, asked police for an examination.

Mrs. Cowan's husband, Dr. Howard G. Cowan, said his wife and her sister had accompanied him to have Mrs. Burnham adjudged incompetent to handle the valuable estate.

The terms of Burnham's will or the court proceedings concerning his estate could not be learned. The Burnham home and personal property was ordered taken in charge by the public administrator.

Mrs. Burnham was married to the manufacturer in 1922, shortly after Burnham's fortune was built up mainly on the sale and operation of the gum vending machines recently the objective of extensive police raids. Burnham died last summer.

THE WEATHER

Probably snow north, snow, sleet or rain south portion beginning tonight or Sunday. Slowly rising temperature except extreme northeast portion tonight.

TODAY'S CHUCKLE

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 2 (UP)—After wind had blown down wires, the following telephone call came to the office of the Southern Indiana Gas and Electric Company: "How do you expect us to operate our still without lights?"

"SQUEALS ON PALS"

FARMERSBURG, Ind., Feb. 2 (UP)—James Dawson, severely wounded by town Marshal Robert D. Mahan, when he and four other men robbed the State Bank here of $1,000 has revealed the names of his companions.

The wounded bandit has given officers the names of Arnold McCoy, Jassonville; Vernon Johnson, address not known, and two others that he knows only as Helms and "Blondie."

The automobile used by the bandits was found abandoned in Terre Haute. Dawson is in a hospital at Sullivan.

WILL EXPEND HUGE SUM ON U. S. DEFENSE

MILITARY ESTABLISHMENTS IN AMERICA TO COST MORE THAN $796,000,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. (UP)—Military establishments next year will cost more than $796,000,000, it became apparent today when the Senate and House resumed work on the war and navy departments appropriations bills. This sum represents about $35,000,000 more than $50,000,000 which Congress intends to spend on new cruisers.

The navy department appropriation bill now up in the House for debate would authorize an expenditure of nearly $350,000,000, about $15,000,000 less than the appropriations for last year and $1,600,000 under the budget. Its total will, however, be materially increased before it passes the House and then boosted again when the Senate adds more amendments later.

The war department bill which will pass the Senate either late today or early next week carries $447,000,000, or nearly $1,000,000 more than provided for the navy. This discrepancy is in part due to the rivers and harbors provisions of the war department bill.

The total represents an increase of $49,000,000 more than was spent in the war department this year and $544,000 more than the budget bureau estimated would be necessary next year. This total, too, is to be increased materially before the bill reaches the hands of the president.

The figures are particularly interesting in view of the recent "war talk" during the Senate's discussion of the naval cruiser building bill, a measure which contemplates $174,000,000 naval building program in the next three years. The bill is to be passed late Monday under the agreement which has been reached by Senate leaders.

Senator King, a "little navy" Democrat from Utah, planned to delay action on the war department bill this afternoon if possible, to speak against the cruiser bill. If King succeeds, final decision on the war department bill probably will go over until Tuesday.

REWARD FOR MISSING GIRL NEARLY $3,000

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF 10-YEAR OLD CHILD Baffles Police.

VANISHED LAST SUNDAY

All Clues In Case Without Basis. Illinois Suspect Establishes Alibi To Authorities.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Feb. 2 (UP)—The search for pretty 10-year-old Edith Mae Dierdorf, who disappeared from here Sunday was continued today with rewards totalling nearly $3,000 offered for her return dead or alive.

One man, Harry Daniels, Chesterton, Ill., who police were tipped might have had some connection with the little girl's disappearance proved to have no basis. Local authorities went to Chesterton yesterday but returned and said he had convinced them he knew nothing of the case.

He admitted, however, that he had been in Paris, Ill., which is near West Terre Haute.

Police here said that they have exhausted nearly every clue which has been given them and that the search now depends upon new clues which they intimated they might receive today.

Edith Mae sold papers as usual last Sunday and returned to a newsstand to obtain an "extra paper" telling the proprietor that she had obtained a "new customer."

She next was seen at a store where she purchased a package of gum, and according to the proprietor accompanied a young man away in an automobile. She has never been seen since leaving the store.

Police have expressed the belief that there was some connection between the "extra customer" and the person that she drove away with in the automobile.

The next clue was the finding of the girl's bloody newspaper bag which a miner said was flung from an automobile. Police said that the bag might have been thrown away to mislead the investigation.

The search was continued yesterday with a posse combing the Busseron Creek lowlands, where the newspaper bag was discovered, and the known underworld hangouts here.

The girl's description and a canvas for additional reward money was broadcast over the radio.

COL. MILLER KILLED

PONCA CITY, Okla., Feb. 2. (UP)—Colonel George L. Miller, one of the owners of the 101 Ranch, was killed early today when his automobile skidded on the snow and ice and overturned on the highway west of here.

Colonel Miller, who was 48 years old, was returning to the ranch alone from Ponca City when the accident occurred.

Colonel Miller, with his 101 Ranch wild west show contributed greatly to the popularization of the western, cowboy drama in American life, an element of early pioneer days that later became such a current theme in motion pictures.

At the time of his death he had increased his interests and in addition to developing the 110,000 acres of which he was part owner, near here, he was engaged in oil operating and refining.

Col. Miller sought to have his ranch perpetuate the traditions of the pioneer days and developed the growth of fruits, forage crops, grains and livestock.

NEW MOTION READY

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 2. (UP)—A motion for rehearing of the contempt case of Dr. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, has been prepared by E. A. Miles, League attorney, the latter announced today.

TEN PEOPLE DIE IN FIRE

ALL VICTIMS BURNED BEYOND RECOGNITION IN BLAZING DWELLING.

BUCHANAN, W. Va., Feb. 2. —Ten persons, two of them small children, were burned to death shortly before midnight last night when fire destroyed the one-story frame house of Peter Sines, a miner.

Sines' son-in-law, Roy Gibson, was the only one of the 11 persons in the house who escaped. He is in a critical condition here from burns and shock.

Gibson's wife and baby son, and Sines, his wife and six children died in the flames. Firemen found their bodies in the ruins of their beds. Evidently they had been overcome by the smoke before they could flee from the flames.

Gibson was in such critical condition that he could tell nothing of the disaster. He apparently had been awakened by the smoke. Leaped through a window with his clothes aflame, he fled to Buchanan, more than a half mile away and gave the alarm.

Volunteer firemen found that the nearest hose connection was more than 3,000 feet away.

Not until the flames had destroyed the house were the firemen, protected by chemical sprays, able to enter and recover the ten bodies.

All were burned beyond recognition.

Mrs. Nancy Cox Dies On Friday

FUNERAL OF BARNARD WOMAN TO BE HELD SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

GARY, Ind., Feb. 2 (UP)—It cost E. A. Spaulding about $2.50 a stroke to whip a 11-year old student at Emerson High School, where he is principal.

Judge Martin Smith fined Spaulding $50 on a charge of assault and battery brought by parents of James Millington, 11-year old student.

GREENCASTLE RAPS BRAZIL IN NET TILT

REJUVENATED TIGER CUB OUT-FIT DEFEATS CLAY COUNTY SQUAD, 31 TO 27.

CUBS LEAD 19 TO 12 AT HALF

Visitors Never Give Up Fighting Until Final Gun. Local Netters Show Good Form.

A rejuvenated Greencastle high school basketball team swept over the hardwood court at the local gym last night to defeat, Brazil, old and respected rivals, 31 to 27 in one of the best net contests seen here this winter. The Tiger Cubs were out in front with a 19 to 12 score at the end of the first twenty minutes.

One of the largest home crowds of the season witnessed the game. Brazil was represented by about 350 fans, most of them occupying the reserved section at the west end of the gymnasium. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Greencastle Band.

Neither team scored in the opening minutes, but Hammerstone managed to register from out on one side for Brazil to start the electric score board to working. With the count, 4-0, Brown was fouled and made good his loss. Masten connected and Gross dribbled down and shot from the side to knot up the battle at 5-all. Brazil took time out.

When play was resumed, the visitors made two field goals but Brown and Stone soon tied it up at 9-9. Brown was hacked going in under the hoop and he made good one of his two chances from the charity stripe. This put the Cubs 1-point in the lead. Brown came right back with a field goal. Stone followed suit and Brown then repeated. Stone was fouled shooting at the basket and he made his first of two shots good. With the count, 17 to 9, Hammerstone shot and the ball agitated the net, making it 17-11. Brown hit from the center of the floor and Hammerstone dropped in a free toss, the half ending 19 to 12 in favor of Bausman's proteges.

Greencastle came back strong in the final period, running the score to 29-13. Lorenz made a foul throw soon after the tip-off and Gene Crawley was sent in for Evan Crawley. Brown and Stone ran the count to 25-13 and the Brazil players went into a consultation.

The game again getting underway, Gene Crawley connected and it was soon, 29 to 13. Fuqua made a free throw good and then registered from out on the floor. Greencastle took time out. Hammerstone connected and it was 29-18. Stone got loose for Greencastle's last basket, making it 31-18. Hammerstone again registered and Campbell went in for Masten Brazil, at this stage of the contest was resorting to long shots being unable to get through the Purple and Gray defense. The invading back guard hit from the center of the court and it was 31-22.

With four minutes to play, the locals again called for time. Clift, Brazil floor guard who had been jerked for instructions by Coach Phillips, went back in. However, the remaining points made by Brazil were due to the individual efforts of Fuqua. The Brazil center sent the ball through the hoop on a long range attempt. He then dropped in a free throw and with less than 5 seconds to play, Stone accidentally passed into Fuqua's hands as he stood unguarded under the Greencastle basket and he made another field goal. The final gun exploded as the ball hit the floor and the tilt was over with Greencastle winning, 31 to 27.

Lineup and summary:
Greencastle (31) Brazil (27)
Stone ..... F ..... Hammerstone
Masten ..... F ..... Lorenz
E. Crawley ..... C ..... Fuqua
Brown ..... G ..... Clift
Gross ..... G ..... Fisher
Field Goals: Stone 5; Brown 5; G. Crawley 2; Masten 1; Gross 1; Hammerstone 4; Fuqua 3; Fisher 3; Lorenz 1.
Foul Goals: Brown 2; Stone 1; Hammerstone 1; Lorenz 1; Fuqua 2.

Japanese Liner Is Slowly Sinking In Coast Sands

TENPAISAN MARU NOT FLOATED SINCE IT FOUNDERED IN 1927.

COPALIS, Wash., Feb. 2.—Slowly sinking in the sands, the wrecked Japanese steamer Tenpaisan Maru stands today a monument to the many lives lost in shipwrecks along the Oregon and Washington coast lines.

The Tenpaisan Maru went ashore during a gale, Thanksgiving Day, 1927. The spot where the distressed steamer lies is at the mouth of the Copalis River, a stream non-navigable by sea-going craft, a mile north of this little beach resort.

Many a beachcomber and veterans of the sea here told tales of shipwrecks on the North Pacific coast dating back to the wreck of the steamer Brother Jonathan, which foundered July 30, 1865, a few miles south of the Oregon coast, with a loss of 155 lives.

Several years ago the steel barge W. J. Pirre foundered north of Destruction Island in the Giants' Graveyard. Today, along the rock bound coast, graves of a few of the victims can be found, buried there by members of the Quillayute Indian tribe.

Another story told is that of the wreck of the British steamer Bawnmore, which struck the coast between Bandon and Cape Blanco in Curry County, Oregon, September 1, 1895. In those days beachcombers lived along the coast line waiting for ships to wreck. Besides the clothing and foods salvaged from the Bawnmore, a street car, being shipped aboard the vessel from Glasgow, Scotland, to Cal lao, Peru, was brought ashore. It is said to be the first and only trolley seen in that section of the northwest. Neahkahnie mountain, located on the Oregon coast, has been visited by many ships in past years, claiming as its prey, the lives of many men.

The greatest loss of life, caused by the foundering of a vessel off this coast line, was the sinking of the American steamer Pacific, November 4, 1875. The disaster occurred approximately 30 miles south of Cape Flattery, with more than 235 persons losing their lives.

With the coming of the coast guard the loss of life from sea disasters in this section of the Pacific Coast has been low compared with that of former years.

In 1919, the trim, five-masted schooner Jannette Caruthers, foundered in a gale eight miles south of here with a loss of nine lives. The weather beaten hull of the once proud sailer is practically covered with the sands.

As the years roll by, the Tenpaisan Maru, too, will probably have become buried in the sands of the beach, protecting its remains from further battery by the lashing breakers.

Lesson for February 3

THE HOLY SCRIPTURES

LESSON TEXT—II Tim. 3:14-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Our Bible.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Our Bible.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Read the Bible?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What the Bible is For.

I. The Scriptures Are Divinely Inspired. (II Tim. 3:16).

The first thing to be settled concerning the Canonical Scriptures is their inspiration and authority. In the Scriptures God is at "sundry times and in divers manners" speaking to man (Heb. 1:1). Paul in this passage declares them to be "God breathed," meaning that the utterances of Holy Writ were God's breath in men's mouths. The Holy Scriptures do not merely contain the Word of God, but are in verity the message of God to men.

The main cause of the moral breakdown of society is that men have been robbed of their faith in the Bible as the authoritative message from God.

II. The Value of the Scriptures (II Tim. 3:14-17).

1. Able to make wise unto salvation (v. 15).

Salvation is in Christ alone. It is secured through faith in His finished work on the cross. True wisdom leads to Christ crucified, since there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved (Acts 4:12), and without the shedding of blood there is no remission (Heb. 9:22).

2. Disciplines the life (vv. 16, 17).

In this "doctrine" is set forth the necessary standard of conduct. The only place to find the teaching of God is in His Holy Word. It not only sets forth a standard of life, but it reproves—confutes error. The way to deal with error is not by denunciation but with a positive presentation of truth. The Word corrects (sets straight the dislocations of personal and social conduct), instructs in righteousness, and equips for service.

III. The Nature and Effects of God's Law (Psa. 19:7-11).

1. Perfect.

It is without flaw; converts and restores the soul; turns man back to holiness and to God.

2. Sure.

It is absolutely dependable. God cannot lie. Man's reasoning changes, but God's Word endures forever. It makes wise the simple. Not only does it make wise unto salvation, but wise regarding the legitimate things of this world.

3. Right.

The precepts and judgments of the Lord are expressions of absolute righteousness. They fill the believer with rejoicing.

4. Pure.

There is in it no mixture of error. It makes no compromise with that which is untrue. Because of this it enlightens the eyes.

5. Clean.

The Word affects the life. Its cleansing is from within and from without.

6. True and righteous.

The decisions of God's Word are true, without exception. The judgments of God's Word are unimpeachable. Because of these qualities God's Word is more to be desired than the choicest gold. Obedience thereto brings great reward.

IV. The Prayer of the Believer (Psa. 10:12-14).

The life brought face to face with God's Word is seen as sinful. The soul cries out for

1. Cleansing (v. 12).

The perfect laws reveal the imperfections of the life. The Word of God reveals sins of which the individual may be ignorant (Isa. 6:5).

2. To be kept from presumptuous sins (v. 13).

Presumptuous, arrogant sins are peculiarly dangerous. In the Mosaic economy no sacrifice was provided for such sins.

3. Freedom from the dominion of such sins (v. 13).

How awful is the slavery of those who are in bondage to presumptuous sins.

4. That the words of the mouth and meditation of the heart be kept acceptable in God's sight. From how many dangers the believer would be freed if the words and meditations of the heart were kept in line with the Holy Scriptures.

Our Possessions

I will place no value on anything I have or possess, except in its relation to the Kingdom of Jesus Christ.—David Livingstone.

Let It Rather Be Healed

Lift up the hands that hang down, and the feeble knees; and make straight paths for your feet, lest that which is lame be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed.—Heb. 12:12, 13.

Hopelessness of Hypocrisy

For what is the hope of the hypocrite, though he hath gained, when God taketh away his soul? Will God hear his cry when trouble cometh upon him?—Job 27:8, 9.

Sanford.

FANNIE BRICE "MY MAN"
By Arline de Haas

Copyright 1928 Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
"MY MAN," starring Fannie Brice, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Fanny Grace sews in a costumer's shop and raises her brother, Phil, and her sister, Audrey, making every sacrifice that Audrey may be spared any hardship. But Audrey leaves home to "live her own life." Lazarus, art director for Waldo, theatrical producer, hears Fanny sing and takes her to Waldo. In the middle of the audition Fanny hears of Audrey's interest in Waldo. Heartbroken, she fails in the try-out. Then Fanny sees a man, Tom, demonstrating muscle builders. Months later she discovers him, down and out, raiding her ice box. She falls in love with him and, believing he loves her, precipitates an engagement. Then Audrey returns.

CHAPTER IX—Continued

"Uh-uh, yeah," Tom nodded, trying to cover his embarrassment by lighting his pipe. His hands trembled. He lowered his eyes, somehow afraid to look at the girl. Audrey gazed about the familiar room. Well, here she was—back again. But not for long, if she could help it. It looked just as shabby, just as poor as ever. But it would do to help her tide over a few days until more important things happened. Waldo hadn't expected her to walk out, as she had, and after he'd find her missing, he'd be back for her soon enough, she thought. They had had no quarrel; the theatrical producer had simply grown less and less attentive. But once he found that she had meant what she said when she told him that she'd leave him, he'd regret his indifference.

Audrey moved restlessly about the house.

Audrey never dreamed that Fanny knew anything about the man for whom she had left home. She believed her sister to be as innocent of that subject as a child. She didn't know that Fanny knew more of the truth than she, herself, did; that Fanny had been told by Waldo's office boy that the "boss" was getting tired of his girl friend. And Audrey wouldn't have believed the office boy anyhow. She had too much faith in her attractions. She didn't believe that he was simply letting her down easy, because she didn't want to believe it. She had threatened so many times to walk out, and in a moment of anger, when Waldo had refused to see her, she had gone, leaving no message for him.

In the meantime, while she waited for Waldo to come a-begging, she might as well save her money, what little she had, and stay at home. She had expected to spend a quiet time just resting and sleeping. She needed it, she reflected. Too many late parties, and too much bootleg liquor didn't do one's looks any good. But now, here was a new interest, Fanny's beau. He might make things a little more lively. She looked at him speculatively. She didn't really want him for all this, but he was the nearest male and that was enough for Audrey.

Audrey rose from her chair slowly, still smiling. "How long 've you an' Fanny been engaged?" she began.

"Oh, I dunno—a couple months, I guess," Tom answered slowly, watching Audrey's movements as she strolled about the room.

"Seems funny to think of Fanny being engaged," she mused. "What's all this?" She moved towards the hope chest and fingered the silk underwear that Fanny had so recently displayed for Tom's benefit.

"That? Oh, that's Fanny's—what d'ya call it—hope chest. Some stuff she's been sewin'."

"Hope chest!" Audrey giggled. "Imagine Fanny with a hope chest. Gee, that's a scream!" She lifted out the pink silk nightgown that had almost met disaster with Tom's pipe. She held it up to her, sniffing out the ribbons. "Imagine Fanny with a hope chest," she repeated, as though the idea were too much for her mind to confure with.

"Yeah, she's been sewin'," Tom, not knowing what to say, and embarrassed by Audrey and her giggles, tried to look away.

"Pretty!" Audrey held up a "teddy," pulling it around her waist as though to see whether it fitted. She was pretending to carry on a conversation, pretending to be admiring the things herself, but she was watching Tom and the effects of her actions on him.

"Yeh," Tom nodded uncertainly. Somehow, it seemed quite a different matter to see Audrey playing with these things than it did to see Fanny. He couldn't understand quite why, but it was so, nevertheless.

"How long 've you been around here?" Audrey questioned, still busy with the garments in the hope chest.

"Me? Oh, I been livin' here since—lemme see—since February, I guess."

"Oh, you live here?"

"Yeh, Fanny rented me a room. I got a job down to Thorpe's, too."

"Oh, I see," Audrey laughed. Well, Fanny was certainly a quick worker. Here it was only June, and Fanny'd got herself engaged and everything. She'd never expected it of Fanny, and she couldn't yet understand it. Tom didn't seem very much in love with her sister, that was certain—either that or he was pretty bashful. She didn't know which, but she preferred to think the latter, because Audrey's brain worked only in one circle and that circle comprised only one idea, namely, that no one could possibly fall in love with Fanny and especially after seeing herself.

"Say that does look swell on you!" Tom suddenly managed to gasp as Audrey held up an especially duffy negligee.

"Like it?" Audrey looked over her shoulder archly, meeting Tom's eyes with a glance that lured and invited and then disappeared beneath fluttering lashes.

She knew that Tom was interested. Oh, he was easy enough. But anyhow, he was a man, and for a week or so he might be used to enter to her whims and her wishes. After that, she could drop him and let him go back to Fanny, if he liked. For by that time she'd have Waldo again, and after all, there wasn't much choice between a noted theatrical producer and a truck driver. She smiled, and then started towards the dining room at Fanny's summons.

CHAPTER X

For a day or so following Audrey's return to the apartment in the Bronx there was more excitement and commotion than usual, and then life settled back once again into its accustomed routine. The air was hot, now, with the fire of summer. Heavy waves of glittering heat flickered restlessly, pendant in space above the burning concrete and sizzling asphalt. The days were sultry and oppressive; the subways filled with the odors of slaving humanity. The nights were lightning-shot, the warm rains scarcely cooling the burnt atmosphere. Saturdays and Sundays brought throngs of automobiles moving like swarms of gnats over the highways towards the beaches and summer resorts.

Fanny worked harder than ever, sewing all day long in the shop, and then coming home in the evenings to prepare the dinner; and then afterwards to sew again on her almost-completed trousseau. Audrey moved restlessly about the house, complaining of the heat, dressing only towards evening when Tom appeared. She made no effort to look for any kind of a position, simply accepting the arrangements Fanny had made for her. She had her old room again, while Tom had been shifted to Phil's room, and Phil slept on a temporary cot in the living room. Fanny wondered, at times, about her sister's plans, but she was afraid to broach the subject lest Audrey should feel that she were not welcome.

Audrey still waited for some word from Waldo, and as the days passed and none came she grew more and more irritable, more and more exacting. Her plan hadn't worked as well as she had expected. She had carefully left her forwarding address and still the expected letter never arrived. And then one day in the read in the paper that Bronson Waldo, the theatrical producer, was sailing for Europe in search of material for his next revue. Sailing for Europe, and without even so much as sending her a note. Audrey felt as though a steam roller had suddenly run over her.

So Waldo had gone to Europe and she was, as she put it, ditched. She considered the matter for a while, curled up in a chair, her negligee pushed back from her full, round throat, her damp, uncombed curls clinging to her warm face. Finally she shrugged her shoulders. Well, that was over. She wasn't one to worry much about the past. What was done was done. Nor was she inclined to think of the future. Whatever presented itself close to hand was enough for the moment. And that, at this time, could be spelled with three letters—T-O-M.

("Jimmie")

Greencastle, 31; Brazil, 27.

The score?—it's O. K.

Brown, stellar Cub guard looked more like the Brown of last year against Brazil Friday night than he has at any other time this season.

Art Gross, playing his first entire game at back guard, performed in great style for the Purple and Gray squad.

Hank Stone had his basket eye working last night and he had the Brazil boys worried every time he got hold of the ball.

Masten and Evan Crawley were watched closely by the Clay county netters but they turned in good games before being replaced by reserves.

Gene Crawley and Campbell saw action against the Brazilians in the second half and these two young men didn't weaken the Greencastle lineup a particle.

For Brazil, Hammerstone and Lorenz, are without doubt, the two best boys that faced the Purple and Gray drapery agitators. Charlie Cliff, usually the bright and shining light for the visitors, was held at bay by the Cub's defense.

Talking about defense—did you notice how the Greencastle boys stopped the Brazil offense time after time, making them throw the ball to the back guard after being unable to get in under the basket.

Oswalt, the invading back guard, registered two or three long field goals at the first of the battle, and Gross finally decided to go out and meet him. Oswalt managed to make one more basket before the contest ended, but this wasn't Art's fault.

Kuqua, in our estimation, is about the best athlete in the Brazil lineup. This boy is a constant offensive threat and he is not so bad when it comes to defense.

Hammerstone when one first sees him on the basket ball floor, don't see how he can stand a full game. But for all his thinness, Hammerstone is wiry and has endurance. He gets this by TRAINING.

Fans seemed pretty well satisfied with the outcome of the tilt. "Revenge is sweet," you know.

The standing with Brazil for the season is .500 per cent. Brazil won its gym dedication game and the Cubs won last night. Brazil won at home and Greencastle won at home which makes fans of each city happy.

And we want to congratulate the Junior Cubs also for their victory over the Brazil Juniors. The locals outplayed their opponents from the Clay county seat and the outcome of the curtain raiser was never in doubt.

The score of the junior game by quarters was as follows: 1st quarter: Greencastle 10, Brazil 0; 2nd quarter: Greencastle 13, Brazil 2; 3rd quarter: Greencastle 24, Brazil 13; 4th quarter: Greencastle 33, Brazil 16.

In the junior game, referee Frank Masten called numerous fouls on the Brazil crowd for "booing" his decisions. When a Brazil player held, Masten called a foul. This brought a roar from the Brazil section which was maintained until Masten had called 5 fouls on them, which gave Greencastle 6 chances at the hoop from the charity stripe. Butler, who was pitching the fouls, made 3 out of the 6.

We witnessed the junior and varsity games from the bleachers last night and enjoyed it. Usually we sit in the press box but this gets tiresome and a fellow likes to be able to lean back and stretch his legs.

SHELBYVILLE NEXT!

OVER THE COUNTY

Roachdale entertained the New Market net squad last night but the Northeast Putnam boys proved poor hosts. That is, they sent New Market's basketweaver home on the short end of a 26 to 21 score. Roachdale led 21 to 15 at the half. Perkins was outstanding for Coach Jeffries' aggregation while Hall looked best for the losers.

Russellville won a hard fought scrap from Fillmore, 36 to 28 over on the Russellville floor. As usual Harbison, center, was the bright light for Russellville. Kersey was the most consistent performer for Fillmore. The score at the intermission was Russellville 19; Fillmore 15.

Coach Vernon Cochenour's Cloverdale net tossers ran away from Belle Union to the tune of 49 to 15 in a game played on the south Putnam floor. Cloverdale was out in front, 21 to 6 at the end of the first twenty minutes. The outcome was never in doubt soon after the initial tip-off.

Tonight, Coach Russell Newgent's Bainbridge sharp shooters meet the strong Owensboro quintet in the North Putnam gym. We're looking for a Bainbridge victory.

Around The State
Greensburg and Shelbyville, future opponents of the Tiger Cubs this season, staged a hot battle on the Greensburg floor with Coach Pruitt's team winning, 35 to 26. Greensburg was in the lead, 16 to 13 at the half and the work of Gilliland and Kammerling brought them ultimate victory. Keht and B. Lindville looked the best for the losers. Shelbyville meets Greencastle here next Friday night.

Columbus had everything its own way against the highly touted Franklin outfit, winning 48 to 31. The Bull Dogs held a 25 to 12 edge at the rest period.

Bedford more than doubled the score on Bloomington and won 66 to 32. Miller and Self were the stars for the Stone City crew while Burnett and Thrasher were the high scorers for the Panthers.

Martinsville came to life after its recent slump to creek Logansport, 67 to 53. Both teams must have left their defense in the dressing rooms. The half score was 26 to 19 in favor of the Artesian City netters.

The Washington Hatchets chopped their way to a 25 to 20 victory over the Vincennes team in a contest held at Aletown. A low score was registered the opening half with the Frittdemen leading 10 to 4.

MOVIES

AT THE VONCASTLE

As amusing as she is beautiful is the way one woman described Bebe Daniels. This put her comedy on a high plane indeed and, coming before Miss Daniels' admirer had seen "What a Night!" it shows that Bebe didn't have to make this convulsing comedy to establish her reputation.

If "What a Night!" which will open a two day run at the Voncastle theatre comes too late to add anything to the popular screen star's superlative reputation, it at least sustains it at the high point to which it has attained.

"What a Night!" is a fast moving comedy of newspaper life. It has all the excitement usually associated with a reporter's life worked into it and, in addition and without detracting from the absorbing melodrama, the charming, laughable incongruity introduced by Miss Daniels. There is a love story lightly told and pleasingly enacted.

Neil Hamilton, in the leading male role, is handsome and competent and William Austin, that inimitable "funny" man of the screen, has an unusual and mirth-provoking part as a male society editor.

AT THE GRANADA

Otto Gray and His Cow Boy Band pleased a large audience at the Granada Theatre last night, giving a performance that was a decided novelty Western offering.

The company is composed of Musicians who are excellent entertainers in this line, as well as some wonderful trick and fancy roping, songs, dances, and other pleasing "stunts" which in all, made the first night's engagement one that satisfied the large audience that attended.

On the screen will be seen Gertrude Olmstead and Hugh Trevor in "Hey Rube", which is a change in picture program from the first night's engagement of the novelty stage attraction.

AT THE GRANADA

Ralph Ince's FBO production "Hardboiled", which concerns the love of a gold-digging Follies girl for a millionaire's son, opens at the Granada theatre Sunday for an engagement of two days.

"Hardboiled" stars Sally O'Neil with Donald Reed as the money burning youth who keeps Broadway in a furore with his mad spending. Lillian Tashman is cast as a Follies girl, the chum of Miss O'Neil. Miss Tashman, it will be remembered, is a former member of Fiegfeld Follies.

The FBO production is an adaptation of the story of Arthur Somers Roche. The continuity was written by Enid Hibbard.

AT THE INDIANA

Singer's far-famed midgets are presented as the Public stage attraction at the Indiana theater this week where they are seen in "Miniatures of 1929". A First National production, "The Crash", is the feature offering with Milton Sills in the stellar role.

Charlie Davis' boys are seen in "Versatility", a long musical presentation rendered under the direction of Ed Resener.

The midgets offer this year what is considered by far the best entertainment of its kind ever presented on a theatrical stage. The presentation is given with a setting which alone is said to have cost more than $40,000. Included as a part of the moving equipment are three elephants as well as other live animals which are seen on the stage.

CUBAN HIGHWAY

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 31. (UP)—Work on the 700-mile Central Highway, which, when completed will connect one end of the island with the other with an 18-foot wide cement roadway, is progressing much faster than expected, according to the Department of Public Works.

A 14-mile section of the highway between Havana and the city of Santa Clara will be ready for inauguration in February, while work on the 110-mile stretch from Havana to Pinar Del Rio will be completed by early fall.

Approximately 11,500 laborers, 70 per cent of whom are native-born, are engaged in building the highway, which will cost $72,000,000.
